ZIGMA (PTY) LTD

Zigma (Pty) Ltd is a company that manufactures cell phones in Botswana. The company uses advanced technology across all areas of the business, which enables the Production Department to use mass production.

In the last 10 years, the company's sales have been high and increasing by 10% on average each year. Recently the demand for their cell phones has started falling due to competition from new businesses entering the market. Management fear that the product will soon reach its decline stage of the product cycle. The marketing manager has proposed a number of strategies to address the problem which includes entering foreign markets, changing the design of the product as well as packaging and an aggressive advertising campaign using either radio or magazines.

5

During the Annual General Meeting, a proposal to convert Zigma (Pty) Ltd into a public limited company was voted on by the shareholders. This would mean the company will be listed on the stock exchange. It was also proposed that management enter into productivity agreements with employees to encourage them to be more productive. However, the management was reluctant because the demand for their cell phones has started falling.

10

The conversion into a public limited company might affect the span of control of the General Manager as more employees, including Information and Communication Technology (ICT) Manager and a Public Relations Officer, will be recruited. The General Manager is currently supervising the Human Resources, Production, Marketing and Finance Managers.

15

Like many other businesses in the world, Zigma (Pty) Ltd has been affected by changes in monetary policies as the Government of Botswana often reviews its monetary policies to regulate economic activities.
